28 September 2022

Dear Prime Minister Elizabeth Truss,
Dear Foreign Secretary James Cleverly,

We, the undersigned academics, students and university/college employees, are writing to request urgent action on the case of University of Leeds PhD candidate and Saudi women's rights activist Salma al-Shehab, who has recently been sentenced in Saudi Arabia to 34 years in prison solely for her peaceful activity on Twitter.

Salma, a 34-year-old mother of two children, is a dental hygienist and PhD student at Leeds University in the United Kingdom, where she has been resident. She was arrested on 15 January 2021 while on holiday in Saudi Arabia, and subjected to solitary confinement and lengthy sessions of questioning over 285 days before finally being brought to court.

In April 2022, she was sentenced to six years in prison, after an already grossly unfair trial. However, following an appeal in the Specialised Criminal Court (SCC) her sentence was extended on 9 August 2022 to 34 years, to be followed by a 34 year travel ban. This is the longest known sentence ever issued to a peaceful activist in Saudi Arabia.

The charges against Salma related solely to her peaceful activity on Twitter, in which she tweeted in favour of women's rights and basic freedoms in Saudi Arabia, as well as in support of fellow Saudi women's rights activists such as Loujain al-Hathloul.

Salma's sentence follows straight after the recent diplomatic rehabilitation of Saudi Arabia's Crown Prince and de facto ruler Mohammed bin Salman, who had been largely shunned since the state-sponsored killing of journalist Jamal Khashoggi in 2018. It shows that the Saudi leadership should continue to be held at arm's length until the authorities demonstrate genuine commitment to human rights. Despite their constant rhetoric of reform and support for women's rights, the Saudi authorities have shown themselves to be hellbent as ever on crushing any form of peaceful dissent – and Western leaders' embrace of Mohammed bin Salman makes them feel empowered to do so.

We cannot stay silent in the face of such repression, and the UK, as a close ally of Saudi Arabia, has considerable leverage that it can use. We therefore ask you, Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary, to:

- secure immediate British consular access to Salma al-Shehab;
- make immediate representations to your Saudi counterparts to help secure her immediate release and the quashing of her conviction; and
- issue a public statement condemning the Saudi authorities' imprisonment and sentencing of Salma al-Shehab.

Salma should be looking forward, like us, to the new academic year, instead of languishing behind bars for the 'crime' of tweeting her legitimate opinions. She must be freed, reunited with her family, and allowed to finish her PhD in the UK.

We look forward to your prompt response on this critical issue.
